

Tested positive for COVID-19?

Protect your family & send them a free at-home test kit.

After getting a positive COVID test, please tell anyone you have been around to help keep them protected from getting sick.

- Family, friends or co-workers need to know that they might have been exposed to COVID-19, too.
- By telling them right away, they can use that information to get tested for COVID-19 and possibly quarantine or get medical help.

One easy option to tell those around you quickly and anonymously is through a free online tool.

It is as easy as 1-2-3:

1

You will get an email or text with your test results. If you test positive, you can add contact information for people you have been around.

It takes just a few minutes.

2

Your close contacts will get an email or text telling them they may have been exposed.

Messages are safe and private. No one will know you sent the message.

3

Your close contacts will get a link to order a free at-home COVID-19 test. They can order a free at-home test in minutes and quickly follow safety guidelines.

Help save lives
Anonymously notify anyone with whom you've been in close contact (within 6 feet for 15 minutes or more in a 24-hour period). Notifying your contacts may help them prevent spread of the infection. We'll immediately send them information on how to get a free COVID-19 test and instructions on how to protect themselves and their loved ones.

Please enter the names and contact information for anyone you've been in close contact with beginning 2 days before the appointment date above.

Exposure Notification for John Doe

Someone who tested Positive for COVID-19 (coronavirus) told us they were recently in contact with you. We recommend you do the following:

- 1 Keep your loved ones safe
 - Isolate yourself - Stay home and avoid contact with others for 14 days - even if you test negative
 - Prevent spread - Wash your hands often, wear a mask
 - Monitor - Watch for fever, cough, shortness of breath or other symptoms of COVID-19
- 2 Get tested
 - Ask your doctor for a COVID-19 PCR test
 - Please visit [link] to get a free COVID-19 PCR

This service is only available if you test at a County of Los Angeles or City of Los Angeles testing site. More than 20,000 people have used this online tool already.
